

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PROLOGUE	11
CHAPTER ONE – ASTONISHMENT IN EVERYDAY LIFE	13
A) First Astonishment: The Adult and Play	16
B) Second Astonishment: Art	21
C) Third Astonishment: The Child	24
CHAPTER TWO – THE THREE SUPEREGOS	29
Introduction	31
A) The Archaic Superego: “Not a Word!”	33
B) Second Superego: Censorship	35
C) The Third Superego	39
I. The First Superego: “Not a Word!”	39
A) The Madman, the Chicken, and the Silence of the Cursed Part	39
B) Three Silences: Night, Darkness, and the Abyss	44
C) The Silence of the Monster	55
D) The Dream of the Black Point: The Silent Malediction	62
II. The Second Superego: “Don’t Insist!”	67
A) The Gaze of the Evil Eye	69
a) To Guard—To Regard	69
b) The Stolen Secret	70
c) The Confession of the First Fault	72
d) The Evil Eye against the Painter’s Eye	73
e) True Secret or False Secret	74
f) The Problem of Fixedness	78
B) Freud and the Superego	82
C) Abuse, Insult, Malediction	86
a) Abuse and Insult	87
b) The Malediction: Oedipus and Polyneices	90
III. The Third Superego: “Are You Going to Persevere?”	101

Table of Contents

CHAPTER THREE – THE QUESTION OF THE STUNNING COMMANDMENT	111
I. Freud and the Commandment of Verblüffung	113
A) Bewilderment and Illumination: Freud and Witticism	113
B) Sideration without Light	121
a) Freud and the 11 th Commandment of Censorship: “Don’t Let Yourself Be Verblüfft! ”	121
1. The Repression of the Signifier	121
α) The Two Provincial Travellers	121
β) The Determination Not to Change and False Thinking	125
γ) Falsified Thought and the Ethics of Psychoanalysis	128
2. The Murder of the Stunning Face and the Foreclosure of the Signifier	134
b) The Subject Remains Stunned: Stupor and Stupidity	138
c) Anticipatory Expulsion of the Stunning Signifier: Drugs	139
C) The Foreclosure of the Stunning Signifier	139
a) The Witticism and the Call	141
b) Lacan’s A-Father [ l’Un-père ] and the Question of Procreation	143
1. The Foreclosure of the Mother’s Call	143
2. Assumption or Foreclosure of the Call: The Question of Fear	147
D) The Après Coup Light: The Freudian Time of Interpretation	151
a) First Logical Time: The Subject Is Overwhelmed	154
b) Second Logical Time: The Subject at an Impasse	155
c) Third Logical Time: The Sleight of Hand	157
d) Fourth Logical Time: Freud’s “Pass”	160
II. Sideration beyond the Pleasure Principle: The Question of Unconscious Choice	163
A) Freud and the Question of the Unconscious Choice	163
B) Beyond the Freudian Conception of Beyond the Pleasure Principle	171
C) The Fall of the Signifier of the Name-of-the-Father into the Real: Ausstoßung , Verwerfung , Werfen , and Verblüffung	179
III. An Attempted Translation of the Stunning Commandment	180
A) What Is Your Debt?	181
a) The Justness of the Question	181
b) The Forgetting of the Question: Saying No to Injustice Rather than Yes to Justness; Paul of Tarsus	183
c) The Quarrel with the Law	187

B) “Where Are You?”	192
a) The Revelation of the “Where”	192
1. Adam	192
2. Music	196
b) The Forgetting of the “Where Are You?”	198
1. Witticism or Slip of the Tongue?: The Question of Shame	198
2. The Conformist	203
C) “That’s Not All You Are!”	207
a) Being and Existence	207
b) Forgetting the Question: The Tramp	208
IV. Question to Lacan and Question of Lacan “He Knows (that I Know (that He Knows (that I Know)))”	209
A) Three Observations Involving the Statement “He Knows (that I Know (that He Knows (that I Know)))”	210
a) First Observation: A Rejection of Sideration	210
b) Second Observation: A State of Sideration without De-sideration	212
c) Third Observation: A Case of Sideration Followed by De-sideration	218
B) The Seminar of February 15, 1977	225
C) The End of an Analysis: Unknotting and Re-knotting	229
 CHAPTER FOUR – THE TIME OF THE OTHER: MUSIC	 233
I. Untranslatability	235
II. The “Blue Note”	247
III. Rhythm, the Invocatory Drive, and Dance	249
A) Dance and the Generation of Time	249
B) Foreclosure of Time	254
IV. The Trauma, Speech, and Music	257
 CHAPTER FIVE – THE TIME OF THE SUBJECT OF THE UNCONSCIOUS: SPEECH (Theory of Primal Repression and Originary Bewilderment)	 263
I. Originary Bewilderment and the Way out of Trauma	265
A) Entering the Trauma	265
a) Betrayal	267
b) The Loss of the Call	268
c) The Medusa’s Gaze and the Loss of Being Incognito	270

Table of Contents

B) The Way out of the Trauma	275
a) The First Time of Exit from the Trauma: Originary Bewilderment	277
1. The “You” that Precedes the “There”	277
2. The Traumatic Dilemma	278
α) Existence of the Dilemma	278
β) The Four Possible Responses	279
b) The Second Time of Exit from the Trauma: Paternal Metaphor and Primal Repression	281
1. Passivity or Sensibility of the Subject	285
2. Primal Repression as an Originary Metaphorical Pact	288
α) The Originary Pact	290
β) The Institution of the Triple Veil	291
II. Overcoming Bewilderment and Emerging from Primal Repression	306
A. The Game of Tennis and the Analytic Game	306
B) The Unforgettable Forgetting	314
a) The Urgent Necessity to Forget: Of the Psychotic, the Mystic, and the Psychoanalyst	314
b) What Unforgettable Forgetting Is	317
c) The Contribution of Derrida	320
TO CONCLUDE: THE CONQUEST OF TIME	325
Dialectic of the Interruptions and Resumptions of Time	326